

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Introducing The McGinley Clinic Privateer Support Program: A New Era for Supercross and Motocross Racers

New Program Supports Privateer Racers, with Title Sponsor The McGinley Clinic

December 3rd— We are thrilled to announce the launch of a new and innovative racing initiative: The McGinley Clinic Privateer Support Program. This program is designed to help Privateer Supercross and Motocross racers achieve their goals by providing crucial support to help with transportation costs, logistical planning, injury support and sponsor product support. Aimed at supporting privateers, the program offers the next level of professional assistance, ensuring that these talented riders can focus on what they do best—racing—without the worry about staggering travel expenses and challenges.

Title Sponsor Announcement: The McGinley Clinic

We are proud to announce that The McGinley Clinic, The Official Partner and Orthopedic Clinic of The Pro Motocross Championship, has signed on as the title sponsor of the Privateer Support Program. The McGinley Clinic is known for its top-tier, cutting-edge orthopedic care, and is excited to expand their services in the world of racing. As part of their commitment to the privateer community, The McGinley Clinic will provide privateer riders, their team, friends and family with access to an elite network of orthopedic surgeons and physicians across the country. Whether injured on or off the track, these riders will be referred to some of the best medical professionals, ensuring they receive the highest level of care. Riders will also benefit from the latest advancements in orthopedics and sports medicine, including minimally invasive treatments for arm pump.

“At The McGinley Clinic, we take the health of the sport seriously, and supporting privateers felt like the perfect way to contribute and further our commitment to SuperMotocross,” said Dr. Joseph McGinley, founder of The McGinley Clinic. “As a former amateur motocross racer myself, it is my honor and pleasure to support privateers of the sport. I am excited to see the name “The McGinley Clinic” on the transport in the pro pits. We really want to draw attention to bringing high-quality care to riders and their families.”

Supporting Privateer Racers

The McGinley Clinic Privateer Support Program is designed to help racers at all levels of the sport get to the events they need to attend without the financial strain. By lowering transportation costs for bikes and providing other valuable resources and services, the program aims to reduce the challenges faced by privateers who typically struggle with the costs of traveling to race locations across the country. This initiative will open up new opportunities for these athletes to pursue their passion and achieve their racing goals.

In addition to the McGinley Clinic’s generous support, we are proud to have several other sponsors who share our mission and commitment to helping privateers succeed. Their selfless contributions make this program possible and highlight the importance of collaboration and community within the motocross and Supercross world.
