The McGinley Clinic Becomes Title Sponsor for New Privateer Pro Motocross Racing Team

Casper, WY – The McGinley Clinic is proud to announce its role as the title sponsor of a newly formed privateer racing team, “THE MCGINLEY CLINIC PRIVATEER SUPPORT PROGRAM” in the 2024 SuperMotocross (SMX) World Championship season. Headed up by Gear Services, run by John Ayers, Jr., this partnership underscores The McGinley Clinic’s commitment to the “health of the sport” by supporting the future of motocross—the up-and-coming privateer riders who strive to make their mark.

“At The McGinley Clinic, we take the health of the sport seriously, and supporting privateers felt like the perfect way to contribute and further our commitment to SuperMotocross,” said Dr. Joseph McGinley, founder of The McGinley Clinic. “As a former amateur motocross racer myself, it is my honor and pleasure to support privateers of the sport. I am excited to see the name “The McGinley Clinic” on the transport in the pro pits. We really want to draw attention to bringing high-quality care to riders and their families.”

Supporting Riders with Elite Care and Innovative Technologies

As the title sponsor, The McGinley Clinic will provide privateer riders, their team, friends and family with access to an elite network of orthopedic surgeons and physicians across the country. Whether injured on or off the track, these riders will be referred to some of the best medical professionals, ensuring they receive the highest level of care. Riders will also benefit from the latest advancements in orthopedics and sports medicine, including cutting-edge robotic technologies like the IntelliSense HandHeld Robotic Drill, minimally invasive treatments for arm pump, as well as regenerative medicine therapy including stem cells and PRP (Platelet-Rich Plasma).

Trackside Presence and Expert Guidance

In addition to medical support, Dr. McGinley will join the team trackside at several Pro SuperCross and Motocross races, providing riders with direct access to expert advice. Riders will have the opportunity to discuss preventative measures, the latest treatment options, and recovery methods that will help them perform at their best and stay healthy throughout the season.

“As the current Official Orthopedic Clinic and Partner of Pro Motocross, this partnership is a natural next step to support the sport,” added Dr. McGinley. “Our goal is to advance medical care options in the sport by ensuring riders have the information and access they need to be successful and healthy.”

Media Presence and Advocacy for Rider Health

Dr. McGinley is no stranger to motocross enthusiasts, regularly featured on The McGinley Clinic Medical Minute during race coverage on NBC and Peacock and as a contributor to the popular SMX Insider Weekly Podcast. His involvement in the sport, both in the media and at the racetrack, highlights his passion for rider health and his dedication to advancing the level of care available to professional athletes.

With a long-standing reputation for providing minimally invasive treatments and a focus on helping riders return to the track as quickly and safely as possible, The McGinley Clinic is excited to begin this new chapter as a major supporter of privateer athletes in the SuperMotocross Championship.
